

HOW TO BE HEALTHY

PROPER DIGESTION

One of the greatest investigators of the functions of various organs in the body known as a physiologist, is Professor Pavlov, who was awarded one of the Nobel Prizes on account of his investigations on the secretion of the gastric juice. This is the secretion that digests food in the stomach. He found that meat required the most gastric juices to digest it and milk the least; and that not only the quantity, but the quality of the gastric juice varies with the kind of food taken; that this important secretion is controlled through nerves that connect the brain and the mouth of the stomach.

He found that simply introducing food into the stomach does not make the gastric juice flow immediately, but the effect upon the brain of the sight, the taste and the flavor of food causes it to flow abundantly, so that food which digests well must be appetizing in appearance and eaten under favorable surroundings. He says that appetite spells gastric juice; that is, the taste, the flavor and the enjoyment of food has to do with contraction of the stomach and therefore the digestion of the food. And Shakespeare says, "good digestion waits on appetite and health on both." Unless a person enjoys his meal it is not properly digested. If there is any mental disturbance, like anger, worry or a grouchy; or if the food is unappetizing in appearance and not of the proper kind, there is a lack of secretion of the gastric juices and, as a consequence, the food is not properly digested. This means the body is not sufficiently nourished and will be easily fatigued. Quarreling with a child over the eating of some dish also tends to upset the child's digestive faculties.

Solomon spoke wisely when he said "Better a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred." So the thing to remember about food is that it must be properly selected, rightly cooked, tasty, and served attractively. It must be moderately chewed, eaten with good cheer in cheerful surroundings, and never when tired or angry.

To be assured of proper digestion and nourishment from your food you must always think of the taste and flavor of what you are eating. Do not read while eating, and, if possible, try to carry on a pleasant conversation. All should strive to make their meals a ceremonial pleasure.

Dr. C. Stephenson Named S. C. Hospital Manager

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dr. C. E. Stephenson, one of the six physicians on the medical board of management of the Good Samaritan Hospital, has just begun his duties as manager of the institution for a period of one year, in keeping with a new rotating plan decided upon by the board of directors recently.

Following Dr. Stephenson's term, similar periods as manager will be served by Doctors B. A. Everett, J. G. Stuart, O. J. Champion, R. S. Manse, and S. R. Green.

The change in management to this system displeases Dr. S. R. Green, who for two years since the present board of directors of 15 members took over the hospital has been superintendent.

Members of the board of directors other than the six physicians are: The Rev. E. A. Adams, chairman; President D. H. Simms of Allen, A. A. Nelson, T. H. Pinckney, the Rev. T. M. Boykin, Joel Jackson, Mrs. E. I. Goodwin, President R. S. Wilkison of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College at Orangeburg, and E. M. Pressley, G. Lee Ratcliffe is treasurer.

The directors voted for the rotary plan of management, 12 to 2. They also voted that improvement be made and new equipment be purchased. Appropriations for making the improvements were unanimously approved and work will begin immediately.

The Good Samaritan hospital was founded by Dr. W. S. Rhodes and developed by his wife, a nurse. In October, 1929, the board of trustees with several local physicians took over full control of the institution from Mrs. Rhodes and have successfully operated it since. A modern nurse-training department headed by Nurse Little is now a part of this community project.

Privy Council of India, Gandhi's Latest Demand

In a copyrighted article the New York Herald-Tribune prints the following interesting dispatch:

Mahatma Gandhi started on the warpath again at today's session of the Federal Structure Committee of the India Round Table Conference at St. James Palace, demanding that India, under the proposed constitution, have her own privy council. As a complimentary move in his offensive against the British government, the Indian leader also called to the working committee of the Indian National Congress asking it to give him full authority as a plenipotentiary instead of restricting him as at present to the status of its agent, empowered only to negotiate on the basis of the Congress's program.

Gandhi's object in making this request is to be able, if possible, to reach a compromise agreement with the Moslem delegates, giving the latter more favorable terms than are provided in the mandate of the Indian Congress, so that he may then be able to say to the British government: "You said it was useless to discuss the Indian Congress's demands for independence until after the communal question had been settled. It is now settled, and therefore I want an immediate and plain answer to our demands for freedom."

Discussing the Federal Supreme Court question today, the Mahatma said: "According to the conception of the Congress there is no question of the Crown. India is to enjoy complete independence and, if that is so, whoever the supreme authority there may be, that authority should be responsible for the appointment of judges and several other matters which today belong to the Crown."

It was a fundamental belief of the Indian Congress, he went on, that, whatever course the constitution took, India should have its own privy council. Paying tribute to the British privy council the Mahatma said that while England certainly could boast of very fine institutions that was no reason for India being tied down to those institutions.

Information for People in Trouble

A new guide telling how to secure the services of welfare agencies for persons needing assistance has just been issued by the Welfare Council of New York City for free distribution. The guide recommends that homeless men and women and destitute seamen be sent to the new Central Registration Bureau for the Homeless, located at the entrance to the South Ferry Building opposite the corner of South and Whitehall streets.

Families in need, the Welfare Council says, should be sent to one of the eleven family welfare societies listed in the guide.

The guide also lists twenty special information bureaus maintained by welfare agencies, each equipped to put inquirers in touch with the proper source of help or service in a particular field of welfare work, as, for instance, care of aged, care of children, help for the handicapped, health information and service, aid to immigrants, free legal aid, non-commercial recreation, settlements, aid for veterans.

CLUB TIT-TATS

Publicity Director. The members are as follows: Misses Lillian Ward, M. Hicks, and Mesdames Aurelia Siviggett, Fredia Hill, Cordelia Reese.

The meeting of the Jolly Five Social Club was held at the home of Miss Irene Ralls on Tuesday. As it was the meeting for the installation of officers, Miss Della Allison presided with the help of Miss Lena Quarles, Acting Secretary. She installed the following: Miss Clara Peterson, President; Miss Ruth Evans, Vice President; Miss Marion Taylor, Secretary; Miss Mabel Faulconer, Recording Secretary; Miss Irene Ralls, Treasurer; Miss Ruth Jordan, Chaplain; Miss Palestine Sygrovia, Business Manager. Plans are being made for their coming dance. Watch for the date through this column.

Mr. Charles Flemming of the Amity Club sends me the following, the content of which is copied verbatim:

To Lee Bell, Club Editor:
Halloween! Gee, I wish it would come oftener. On Saturday night the Adolphus Girls tendered a "Round the World" party to the Amity Boys and a few friends, and didn't they plan a fine trip. Accounts of the party: The plane started at 11:00 P.M. from Mrs. Gladys Alvarauza (Mitchell Field), where the guests were treated with soft drinks, during a card game, dancing and gaiety. First stop was Canada (Misses E. and M. Jacobs), then we had more soft drinks, sandwiches, and all that goes with it, at 12:05 we left for (England) Miss Alma. When we got there the queen had ready for us peanuts to make us thirsty, then wine to quench our thirst. The time being short and weather conditions good we started for Germany, Miss Yearwood's. When we arrived there the house was decorated in many bright colors, and was the music good! We ate some more and drank some more. During the progress of the dancing the girls hoisted their colors at the head of the room. At 2:30 we decided to keep up with the weather, so we started back to Canada. The food supply was still good so we decided to eat all and have less cargo in the store rooms. Some of our passengers got sleepy so we dropped them off to prevent excess baggage and the trip continued until even the pilot gave up. Thanks to the girls and in behalf of the Amity boys there will be a return trip soon.

Joshua Gumbis of the Amity boys was the pilot, and Miss Edith Willoughby the mechanic. SOME nice

The "Twilight Strutters" had to have somebody to spoil their affair. Look out. Don't shoot in the air (ear) so much, boys.

Folks, look out, there is an interviewer from the Tatler, going seeking information. Be sure that he prints what you tell him only, as he avoids taking chances. Send your notes to me or Miss L. Bell of this paper. Honesty is our policy.

Yours for social harmony,
Charles Flemming,
Amity Club.

Again I must thank Mr. Flemming, who is working with much fervor, and I want him to know that it is highly appreciated.

Chinese Ten-Year Plan Stresses Industrialization

WASHINGTON—The Department of Commerce today made public an outline of a comprehensive ten-year industrialization plan submitted for approval of the Chinese government by the Ministry of Industries, as reported in a communication from John J. Ehrhardt, American Trade Commissioner at Shanghai.

The plan contemplates the manufacture and sale, under government auspices, of approximately $11,000,000 worth of machinery.

The major points of the plan follow: Building harbors, canals, railways and roads.

Opening the vast undeveloped areas of the northwest and developing agricultural and pastoral industries throughout the republic.

Development of mines and quarries.

Construction of smelting works and mills in connection with the metallurgical industries.

Production of iron and steel.

Manufacture of iron bricks, cement and other building materials.

Construction of locomotives and rolling stock.

Building of merchant ships and fishing vessels.

Manufacture of vehicles of all types.

Development of the coal tar industry.

Development of the basic chemical industry.

Development of hydro-electric systems and central power stations.

Manufacture of electrical machinery.

Construction of water works.

ASTROLOGY

Horoscope for Week of November 8 to 14, 1931
By BENJAMIN ALEXANDER

SCORPIO THE SCORPION
Weather conditions are, on the average very good for this week, as there will be adversity of temperatures during the seven-day period.

Beneficent Moon influences will pervade during this week. The indications are on the main hopeful; and signs all point to the fact that those who will hustle and will go into business with a clear head and a keen eye will be winners in life's game this week.

The new Moon coming on Monday the 9th, indicates a period of increasing activity. Sunday the 8th, is a very good day for that trip you were planning so long. Be careful of accidents, however. If you do that you will be able to come back to the tasks of Monday, fit to take a citadel. It will be a day for the attending of matters of a personal nature. Tuesday the 10th, dominated by the fiery, masculine, fixed, barren, air sign of Sagittarius is a day of not much importance. To make anything today you will have to hustle, hustle, hustle. Wednesday the 11th, is under the tenacious Taurus. Keep your temper. Rally your spirit and win a victory.

Thursday the 12th, is a splendid business day, which you should use for all it is worth. Make it count for something in the record of days "well done."

Friday the 13th is an uncertain day. Business of an important nature should only be handled with the greatest care, if undertaken at all. This day, under the influence of a Moon increasing, and in the sign Capricorn will tax your good judgment and your store of energy.

The afternoon of Saturday the 14th, is shown as being under influences which make it excellent for business of all kinds.

This is a week when you will have to be up and doing. You will be called upon to give your best to the world. These rewards are sure if you will allow yourselves to be guided by the righteous impulses which spur you on to greatness. I want to emphasize here and now, that it is a week when you will have to take yourselves seriously. You will have to measure up to the tasks which are at hand, and which will soon present themselves to you.

An increasing Moon, transiting beneficent signs, indicates a fair measure of success for all your efforts. But you can transform that into a large measure of success by more persistence and resistless will.

Virginia Revokes License Of National Benefit Co.

RICHMOND, Va.—The State Corporation Commission has ordered that the license of the National Benefit Life Insurance Company of Washington, D. C., and the licenses of its agents in Virginia be cancelled. This action was taken when no appearance was made by the company on October 10 on an order to show cause why its license should not be revoked.

The order restrains the company from writing any business in Virginia and from transmitting any funds or transferring any property out of the state, unless authorized by the circuit court of Richmond in which suit has been filed for a Virginia receiver. The company is advising policyholders that all policies now in force, and prior to the revoking of the licenses, are good. The order cancelling the company's license to do business simply restricts the company from doing any new business.
